IV. SOLDIER'S MEDAL. By direction of the President, under the provisions of the Act of Congress, approved 2 July 1926, a Soldier's Medal for heroism not involving actual conflict with an enemy is awarded to:

Specialist Four Fred E. Ervin, United States Army, a member of Headquarters Detachment, United States Army General Depot, Metz, distinguished himself by heroism on 19 July 1959, in the vicinity of Remich, Luxembourg. Specialist Ervin and several companions were sitting on the bank of the Moselle River in the City of Remich when they observed a young boy who was swimming in the river at that point disappear into the deep boat channel. Without hesitation or concern for his own personal safety, Specialist Ervin plunged into the swift waters of the river and, after much physical exertion, succeeded in pulling the young victim to safety. Specialist Ervin's prompt, decisive action and courageous effort saved this boy from certain death by drowning. The unselfish heroism which he displayed in this sudden emergency is worthy of emulation, and reflects distinct credit upon himself and the military service.

Specialist Four Ronald J. Van Nostrand, United States Army, a member of the 510th Engineer Detachment (Utilities), Camp Hanford, Washington, distinguished himself by heroism on 27 November 1959. As the operator of a  $\frac{3}{4}$ -ton truck Specialist Van Nostrand was sitting in the vehicle on a barge, waiting to cross the Columbia River on the Army ferry at White Bluff. Upon hearing a commotion behind him, he jumped out of the truck and ran about 25 feet to the end of the barge where he discovered that a fellow-soldier had slipped and fallen into the icy water. Without hesitation or concern for his own personal safety, Specialist Van Nostrand pulled off his shirt and boots and dived in to rescue the soldier. Despite the fact that he was able to remain submerged for only a short period of time due to the piercing coldness of the water, Specialist Van Nostrand returned to the chilly, murky depths to search for the victim. He continued his search in the face of jagged rocks, swiftly changing and treacherous currents, and the numbing effect of the frigid waters. His determined attempts to save the man's life were not successful, but the selfless effort and courageous actions which he displayed are worthy of emulation, and reflect great credit upon himself and the military service.
