$\frac{1}{2}$ GO 2012-22 GENERAL ORDERS HEADQUARTERS DEPARTMENT OF THE ARMY No. 2012-22 WASHINGTON, DC, 19 December 2012 $\frac{1}{2}$ $\frac{1}{2}$ AWARD OF THE MEDAL OF HONOR Private First Class Henry Svehla $\frac{1}{2}$ $\frac{1}{2}$ $\frac{1}{2}$ On 2 May 2011, the President of the United States of America, authorized by an Act of Congress, March 3, 1863, has awarded, in the name of Congress, the Medal of Honor to $\stackrel{\wedge}{\boxtimes}$ $\stackrel{\wedge}{\bowtie}$ Private First Class Henry Svehla ☆☆☆ ☆ ☆ United States Army For conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity at the risk of his life above and beyond the call of duty: Private First Class Henry Svehla, distinguished himself by acts of gallantry and intrepidity $\stackrel{\wedge}{\bowtie}$ $\stackrel{\wedge}{\sim}$ above and beyond the call of duty while serving as a Rifleman with F Company, 32d Infantry Regiment, 7th Infantry Division, in connection with combat operations against an armed enemy $\frac{1}{2}$ in Pyongony, Korea, on 12 June 1952. That afternoon while Private First Class Svehla and his platoon were patrolling a strategic hill to determine enemy strength and positions, they were $\frac{1}{2}$ subjected to intense enemy automatic weapons and small arms fire at the top of the hill. Coming under the heavy fire, the platoon's attack began to falter. Realizing the success of the mission $\frac{1}{2}$ and the safety of the remaining troops were in peril, Private First Class Svehla leapt to his feet and charged the enemy positions, firing his weapon and throwing grenades as he advanced. In the face of this courage and determination, the platoon rallied to the attack with renewed vigor. Private First Class Svehla, utterly disregarding his own safety, destroyed enemy positions and $\frac{1}{2}$ inflicted heavy casualties, when suddenly fragments from a mortar round exploding nearby $\frac{1}{2}$ seriously wounded him in the face. Despite his wounds, Private First Class Svehla refused medical treatment and continued to lead the attack. When an enemy grenade landed among a $\stackrel{\wedge}{\bowtie}$ group of his comrades, Private First Class Svehla, without hesitation and undoubtedly aware of the extreme danger, threw himself upon the grenade. During this action, Private First Class $\stackrel{\wedge}{\boxtimes}$ Svehla was mortally wounded. Private First Class Svehla's extraordinary heroism and selflessness at the cost of his own life, above and beyond the call of duty, are in keeping with the $\stackrel{\wedge}{\bowtie}$ highest traditions of the military service and reflect great credit upon himself, his unit, and the United States Army. $\frac{1}{2}$ $\frac{1}{2}$ [DAPE-ZXM] $\frac{1}{2}$ $\frac{1}{2}$ $\frac{1}{2}$
